IBRAHIM EZZ EL-DIN

EGYPT

Ibrahim Ezz El-Din loved his job. The 26-year-old human rights researcher reported on people's access to safe and affordable housing in Egypt - a basic human right. Recently, he was documenting forced evictions. After work, Ibrahim loved to draw and was interested in design and computer science. He was a huge soccer fan, especially of his local team, Zamalek Sporting Club.

On the evening of June 11 2019, Ibrahim was walking home. Suddenly four security officers dressed in plain clothes surrounded him and arrested him. When his mother found out, she went straight to the local police station, but the police told her Ibrahim was not there and denied that he was detained at all. 167 days later, on November 26 2019, Ibrahim was brought before the Supreme State Security Prosecution, where he said he was tortured during his degrading time in detention.

Ibrahim is the fifth person linked with his organization, the Egyptian Commission for Rights and Freedoms, to have been arrested in just three years. Hundreds like Ibrahim have been forcibly disappeared and held in prison for months, without ever being brought to trial. Many – from journalists to soccer fans and even politicians - have been arrested simply for expressing their opinions peacefully, for criticizing the authorities, or for standing up for human rights.

Ask the Public Prosecutor to release Ibrahim.
